About seventy-five of the members of Orleans Lodge, No. 55, F. & A. M. accompanied by the Barton Cornet Band attended the centennial anniversary held at Stansfield last Wednesday. The trip was made on a special train. When the train arrived at Newport the Masons of that place were found in waiting and the Barton and St. Johnsbury Masons who were on board the train joined the Newport lodge for a parade through the streets of that village. There was a large number in line and the spectacle was a magnificent one. After the parade all boarded the train and proceeded to Stansfield where they were given a most hearty welcome.

The fair association has sent out its list of entries for the races to be held at Roaring Brook Park on July fourth, and from the number of entries made there seems to be no question but that the races will be good. The vaudeville attractions promise to be new and exciting and should prove entertaining to both old and young. The baseball games should be closely contested and will draw a large crowd. The rumor has been started that the celebration has been given up because of the smallpox scare but there is no reason for this report as there is not a case here, and with the proper enforcement of the quarantine where the disease exists there will be no danger.

Road Commissioner Geo. F. Reed has been busy for some time on the roads in this part of the town. He has now finished the work with the road machine. One particularly good thing which Mr. Reed has been doing and which Mr. Dunham will also do in his part of the town is in putting in permanent sluiceways. The old sluiceways which were in need of repair have been excavated and good granite ones made in their places. In Mr.

Dunham and Mr. Reed the town has two good commissioners and if their work is satisfactory they should be kept in office and not turned down because there is someone who would like the office on account of having a team to work.

The ceremony which united Miss Flora L. Whitney and C. E. Austin, took place Wednesday evening, June 17, 1903, in Como Avenue Congregational church, Minneapolis, Minn. Rev. J. M. Misses Mary James and Edna Pettit were bridesmaids dressed in pink and carried pink roses. Roy Shumway and Jay Houghtaling were ushers. Miss Bertha Hammond was maid of honor and wore a gown of green mousseline de soie trimmed with Meublin lace, and carried red roses. The bride was met at the altar by the bridegroom with his best man, Walter Crawford. The bride's gown was of white silk muslin fashioned with a full train and she carried bride's roses. Her traveling gown was of blue tulle trimmed with stitched bands of tulle. An informal reception was given at the church which was followed by one at the home of the bride's mother for the members of the bridal party. The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses and ferns, pink and green being the prevailing colors. Assisting in the dining-room were Misses Marjorie Sims and Francis Lowell. An inspection of the territory burned over by the forest fire some time ago brings out the fact that the loss was less than was estimated at that time. It covered a district of some over five miles. Most of the territory burned over was mountain land, nearly all of the valuable timber had been taken off, but the fire has killed all of the young growth, which leaves the mountains in an unsightly condition, otherwise on most of this land the losses were light. The principal losers are as follows: H. F. Pillsbury & Son estimate their loss (in Sutton and Westmore), $3000; Melvin Drown estimated loss about $250; P. H. Duke, $150; Ed. Butterfield, $200; G. F. Wheeler, $200; H. B. Orcutt, $100; O. B. Willard, $200; W. S. McDowell, $500; R. B. Lang, B. C. Berry and Mr. Doyle, $50 each, in fences and labor. There were several slight accidents, but no one severely injured. The fire was fought for two days and two nights, on the road leading from South Barton to Westmore, by from 50 to 150 men. Had it not been for their timely aid and the rain which came on Sunday night, it would have swept everything before it, to the Cheney cottage and Mrs. Richard's hotel at the south end of Willoughby Lake.

MRS. CLARA A. CONANT, ROLLIN CONANT.

The following is a clipping from the Attleboro, Mass., Sun, which will be of interest to readers of this paper as Mr. Kelley was formerly of this place.

The funeral of Mrs. George J. Kelley was held this afternoon at her home on North Main street, and the friends who gathered to bid farewell realized that there had been taken from their midst one whose disposition, brightened by inward springs of kindness, had been a joy and inspiration to them all, whether associated as secret order, church or personal companions. The services were simple. Rev. Lewis Melvin, pastor of the First F. B. church of Portland, Me., officiated, assisted by Rev. Joshua O. Randall of the Methodist Episcopal church of this town. The exercises were at 2 o'clock, and the Pythagoras Temple of Rathbone-Sisters, in which Mrs. Kelley had been a valuable and highly regarded member, was represented. Mrs. Kelley died when 28 years, 5 months and 26 days old. She was born in Newport, Vt., and her maiden name was Miss Musa D. Blake, daughter of the late Joseph E. and Mrs. Fronia E. Blake. Her mother had been an inmate of her home for some time past. She was always interested in religious work, and while attending the normal school made her home at Lacota, N. H., joining the First F. B. church there and being an able worker in it. She was married at her home in Newport to George J. Kelley August 12th, 1886, and they soon removed to Attleboro. Mr. Dolloff was born in Lowell, Mass. Feb. 17th 1842. At an early age he removed with his parents to Northern Vermont where he spent several years in farm work, teaching and attending school. In March 1866 he entered the medical department of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. After finishing this course he practiced medicine a short time in Niles, Michigan, but being of a deeply sensitive and sympathetic nature he shrank from disease and suffering and abandoned this profession for that of the law, and again entered the University of Michigan as a student in the law department. He was admitted to the bar in 1875, and in the same year married Miss Ella Huyck of Prairie Rouge, Michigan, removing to Colorado, where he engaged in the practice of law until January 1903, when his health failed and he was obliged to rest. The following March he went to Virginia to visit his daughter, and was greatly benefitted by the change, so much so that he started home June 10th to resume his law practice, visiting on the way a friend in Lisbon, Maine, and two sisters in East Charleston. At Lisbon he had a relapse, his wife was telegraphed for but was unable to see him alive. All that love could plan or skill devise was done, but imperative summons had come, calling him to the home above, and the spirit so full of love for humanity went out into the silence. Short
